Water
Sugar
Grapefruit juice
Rosemary branch
Soda

- 1 Put equal parts of water and sugar in a saucepan over medium heat. Wait around 5 minutes until sugar is dissolved. Do not let the mixture reach the boiling point, or the crystals will not form.
- 2 Once ready, pour the syrup into a heat-proof container, add the sprigs of rosemary and let it rest for an hour.
- 3 Make the grapefruit and rosemary mocktail by pouring half a cup of grapefruit juice into each glass, a tablespoon of the previously made rosemary syrup and cover it with the soda.
- 4 We can decorate it with a slice of grapefruit and a sprig of rosemary.
